GENERAL CRITERIA:

Media Awards will be given out in three categories:

- Outstanding Written Work
- Outstanding Video, Film or Broadcast
- Outstanding Photograph

1. Submissions for award consideration must pertain to some aspect of the Canadian Standardbred racing industry. Submissions for 2023 must have been published or broadcasted for the first time, between November 1, 2022 and October 31, 2023.

2. Contestants in the media categories are limited to one submission per category. In the event that more than one submission is received in any category, the author or producer/director will be asked to decide which submission should be entered.

3. Submissions must pertain to Canadian racing and must have appeared in a publication, or through a broadcast medium that is editorially supervised, and accessible to the industry and the general public. Standardbred Canada staff will be responsible for determining what mediums are considered 'editorially supervised' upon submission. Online mediums will be allowed, however personal blogs and other self-publishing websites and distribution vehicles will not be considered.

4. Each media award will be judged by an independent panel of individuals with an array of journalistic backgrounds. Judges will have experience in the discipline they are judging but differing knowledge of standardbred racing. The judges will represent a cross-section of media members. Anyone with a direct affiliation to an entrant, or anyone working for an organization with a direct affiliation to an entrant or publication, will not be allowed to act as judge in that category.

5. Judges will evaluate works on their ability to engage the reader or viewer on a topic that pertains to Canadian Standardbred racing.

For the written work and video, film, broadcast categories, each judge will be asked to fill in the following score card with a score from 1 (poor) to 5 (excellent) for each criteria.

- 1) Presentation and polish
- 2) Storytelling ability and impact
- 3) Accuracy
- 4) Newsworthiness and broad appeal

- 5) Ability to educate and enrich the audience on a subject, topic or topics pertaining to Canadian Standardbred racing
- 6) Subject matter's importance and relevance to the Canadian Standardbred racing industry

For the photography category, the subject matter should be relevant to or representative of Canadian Standardbred racing. Photographs cannot be digitally altered. Each judge will be asked to fill in the following score card with a score from 1 (poor) to 5 (excellent) for each criteria:

- 1) Technical Merit -Includes exposure, shutter speed, focus, depth of field, appropriate focal length, etc.
- 2) Composition -Includes backgrounds, foregrounds, diagonal lines, the principle of thirds, attention to details, perspective, center of interest.
- 3) Impact -Does the image hold your attention?
- 4) Creativity –originality and uniqueness
- 5) Subject Matter: Does the subject matter portray an element of excitement, interest, or intrigue in the Standardbred horse or the sport of harness racing.

6. Judges will be sent the submissions in the media categories by courier and/or email. The submissions in the aforementioned categories will bear no reference to author or the publication in which those submissions appeared. Video/Film/Broadcast submissions will be transferred by the applicants to DVD and sent to judges for viewing.

7. The two finalists in the media categories will be determined based on the highest point totals, as determined by the judges.

Ties will be adjudicated by giving the tied works back to the judges. Judges will rank their choices in order (i.e., 1st, 2nd, 3rd), with the most 1st place votes moving on. If a tie remains, the decision will go to 2nds... 3rds... etc. until a winner is determined. If a tie still exists, works of the tied participants will be sent to an independent adjudicator who will determine the winner based on the award criteria.

Deadline for entries is 5 pm EST on November 30, 2023.

Two nominees in each category will be selected as finalists with the winners to be announced at the 35th O'Brien Awards Gala on Saturday, February 3 at the Delta Hotels by Marriott Prince Edward.
